

REFERENCES

- 1). National Center for Injury Prevention and Control. Prevention of motor vehicle related injuries: a compendium of articles from the Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report, 1985-1996. Atlanta, GA: Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 1997.
- 2). National Center for Injury Prevention and Control. Home and leisure injuries in United States: A compendium of articles from the Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report, 1985-1995. Atlanta, GA: Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 1996.
- 3). Institute of Medicine. Reducing the Burden of Injury. Advancing Prevention and Treatment 1999. Washington, DC: National Academy Press.
- 4). Recommended Framework of E-code groupings for presenting injury mortality and morbidity data (August 1, 1999).www.cdc.gov/ncip/whatsnew/matrix2.htm. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.
- 5). Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Recommended frame work for presenting injury mortality data. MMWR 1997;46 (No. RR-14): [inclusive page numbers].
- 6). Nebraska Health and Human Services System. Motor Vehicle Crash Outcomes in Nebraska. 1996 Management Reports. Nebraska Crash Outcome Data Evaluation System
- 7). National Center for Health Statistics. Health, United States, 1996-97 and Injury Chartbook. Hyattsville, Maryland: 1997.
- 8). Fingerhut LA, Warner M. 1997. Injury Chartbook. Health, United States, 1996-97. Hyattsville, MD: National Center for Health Statistics.

APPENDICES

- I. Injury Deaths by Cause and Age, 1992-1998
- II. Injury Deaths by Cause and Intent, 1992-1998
- III. Injury Deaths by Cause and Intent by Sex (Male), 1992-1998
- IV. Injury Deaths by Cause and Intent by Sex (Female), 1992-1998
- V. Injury Events by Cause and Age, 1992-1999
- VI. Injury Events by Cause and Intent, 1992-1999
- VII. Cause of Unintentional Injury by Sex (Male), 1992-1999
- VIII. Cause of Unintentional Injury by Sex (Female), 1992-1999
- IX. Recommended Framework of E-code groupings for presenting injury mortality and morbidity data (August 1, 1999)

